

Vice Lords shoot two in Madison

By Jack C. Vontimiglia
Executive editor

MADISON — Gang members used a saved-off shotgun and a .32 caliber pistol to shoot two men late Thursday night, the victims said from hospital beds Friday.

"I won't say a gang related at this time," Madison police Lt. Bill Papa said Friday. Papa said the police haven't fully determined what occurred.

Mark Madgett, 22, of Madison, and Carey Gilmore, 20, of Washington Park, were struck several times by gunfire as they left the apartment of a friend at the Garesche Homes Housing Project.

"Just when we came out they opened fire on us," Gilmore said. "They had a good angle — right at us."

The first volley of buckshot struck and knocked down Madgett and Gilmore, they said.

"I went to the ground," Gilmore said. "Then, when I got up to run, I got hit in my left thigh."

The .32 caliber bullet that struck Gilmore in the thigh knocked him down again, but he got back to his feet and ran, he said.

The two had to run, Madgett said, because the gang members weren't through.

"They were running behind us with guns," Madgett said.

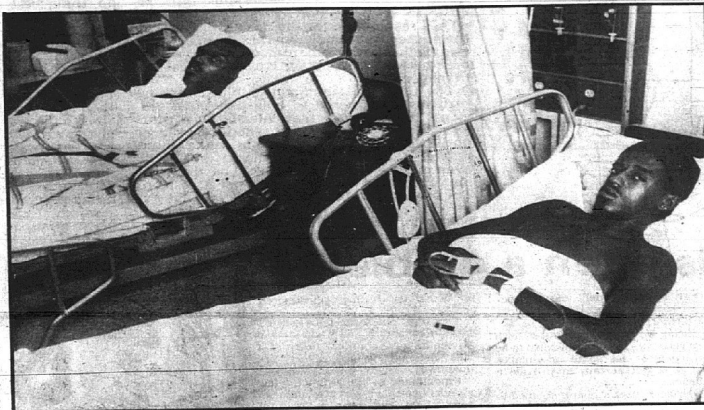

"Steady shooting at us," Gilmore said.

Gilmore said he recognized the persons who did the shooting as members of the Vice Lords street gang.

The reason for the shooting, Gilmore said, may be because he visited a woman a few weeks ago in Eagle Park. He said he did not know she was the girlfriend of a Vice Lord member until sometime after the visit, when the man shot at him.

Gilmore said he reported that incident to police, but the man wasn't arrested.

"The dude shot at my car once before, but when I called police, they wouldn't come," he said.

The same man who shot at the car was one of the two who did the shooting Thursday, Gilmore said.

There is a lack of police interest in what happened Thursday, Gilmore said. The police did not come to the hospital to take statements, he said.

"The police reacted like they didn't care — like they didn't give a damn if we lived or died," Gilmore said.

The Madison Police Department is undermanned and couldn't get a statement, Papa said. The chief is on vacation, a detective is in Edwardsville on court business and other officers can't be spared from their duties, he said. When a policeman becomes available, a statement will be taken, Papa said.

At first, Gilmore wasn't sure he would talk to police because he said they hadn't seemed interested in taking a report.

"What's the use of making a statement when I get out?" he asked. "A man tried to kill me. There's a man out there with a gun and they (the police) won't do nothing about it."

Gilmore then decided he would talk to police.

"Yes, I'm gonna make a statement," he said.

After displaying the entry point of the .32 caliber bullet that remains lodged in his thigh, Gilmore said he was struck by buckshot on the right arm and side. Madgett was struck in the head, shoulder, back and side by a total of 19 pieces of buckshot.

In a recent interview, Madison Police Chief Charles Briddick said there are no gang-related problems in Madison.

"We are aware of some East St. Louis members socializing in Eagle Park and West Madison areas, but so far there has been no trouble," he said.

Purchase marks expansion at port

GRANITE CITY — The Tri-City Port District increased its land area by 104 acres with the acquisition of U.S. Army land.

The U.S. General Services Administration (GSA), the property arm of the government, has given final approval of the sale of excess property at the Army's St. Louis Area Support Center here, said an aide to U.S. Rep. Mel Price, D-East St. Louis.

The aide, Bob Samples, said the GSA accepted the $92,500 offer by the Port District. The sale also included a 122,600 square-foot warehouse.

THE ARMY was at first reluctant to approve the sale, said Samples, but through "prodding" from Price and U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Belleville, U.S. Army Secretary John Marsh was persuaded to go along with the sale.

The Army initially wanted to shut off the water supply system to the land "under some kind of (Army) regulation," if the sale was made, said Samples. "It turned out to be a big hassle," he said.

Samples said Price "went over" (See PORT, Page 9A)

Roadblock request denied by aldermen

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

A request for a roadblock at Nameoki and Johnson roads by Project Help was denied by the Granite City council Tuesday night.

The denial was in light of the council's moratorium on roadblocks for fundraising purposes at the intersection. The aldermen declared the moratorium due to the rising number of roadblocks being held.

MEANTIME, Mayor Von Dee Cruse has turned the matter over to the traffic committee for study and recommendations, he said.

Project Help requested the council grant permission for a roadblock at Nameoki and Johnson from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7 and 8. The organization distributes food to the area's unemployed at no costs to recipients.

Voting to deny the request were Aldermen Sam Whitmer, Everett

Morlen, Pat Schuman, Paul Fisk, Mike Modrusie, Jake Varadani, Brett Hanke and Tom Hewlett.

Voting to allow the roadblock were Casmer Skubish, Sharon Perjak, Lloyd Bailey, Woody Moad, Judy Whitaker and Jeff Worthen.

MORLEN WAS angered at the decision.

"We're going to deny Project Help," Moad said. "What is this council coming to?"

"To me Project Help is no more important or no less important than others the council has voted down in the past weeks," Whitmer said.

"The traffic committee will need a lot of help on this."

MORLEN, chairman of the traffic committee, said the roadblocks were illegal since Nameoki Road, also known as Illinois 203, is a state highway. Also, if someone was injured during a roadblock, Morlen

Enrollment declines at GCC

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Enrollment declined this year at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College. The decline came as a surprise to GCC Executive Dean Lee Knoebel.

"I thought we might have reached a plateau instead of a drop," Knoebel said.

Last year, GCC registered 2,094. This year's enrollment stands at 2,047, a 2 percent drop. More importantly, however, is a significant decline in the number of hours students are taking at the college.

KNOEBEL SAID students are taking about 10 percent fewer hours than last year. The reduction will mean the college will receive less money in state aid.

Knoebel attributed the decline in the amount of hours students are taking to a better economic outlook in the area. He said when the economy is brighter and more jobs are available, potential students are more reluctant to seek retraining or increase their knowledge in a particular vocation. GCC is primarily a vocational college.

People generally do not come to GCC just to gain more educational experience in hopes of a job promotion, Knoebel said. They generally attend out of necessity, he said.

"WHEN TIMES are bleak, the people know they have to do it (retrain). Promotion isn't the key," Knoebel said.

Knoebel said he does not think this year's decline is a trend.

"I hope this drop is atypical. There is a lot of potential here ... for the type of students we are trying to reach. I think the physical changes here will be very positive. I'm still optimistic," he said.

Knoebel said he was hopeful that recent developments would spur future enrollment. GCC is now undergoing an exterior facelift including the resurfacing of part of the main parking lot, which has been deteriorating.

THE CENTER and west end of the main building are also getting a new roof. Both projects are expected to be complete by the end of October.

GCC may also have interior renovations done if money that was originally earmarked for a new heating and air-conditioning system can be used for interior work.

Though the BAC Board of Trustees previously voted to provide $1 million for the roof, parking lot and heating and air-conditioning projects, GCC was able to obtain other state funding for the heating and air-conditioning work.

"I'd like to believe as a result of that approval ... we would use that money for some renovations of the interior. But, that would be up to them (the BAC Board)," Knoebel said.

ANOTHER MEASURE that may bolster GCC enrollment is the hiring of two part-time recruiters for the BAC system. The BAC Board accepted the proposal by Chancellor Bruce Wissore at its meeting last Tuesday.

The recruiters will travel to BAC

GCC staff increases

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Despite the enrollment drop, the BAC Board of Trustees voted last Tuesday to hire one more clerical worker.

BAC Chancellor Bruce Wissore had requested that the GCC campus be given two more full-time clerical workers but some board members questioned why two more employees were needed considering the college's enrollment decline.

"The campus (GCC) is understaffed," Wissore said.

"It seems to me that (two more clerical workers) would make that campus function," said the BAC board member from Granite City, Leo Konzen.

But Member Robert Dintelmann questioned the necessity of more hirings at GCC.

district high schools to talk with potential students, Wissore said he preferred hiring two part-time recruiters instead of one full-time.

"It is not exactly an efficient way to go. The enrollment results this year were not that good in Granite," Dintelmann said.

But Wissore said that increasing the staff was one way of drawing more students.

"We need to attack it (declining enrollment) aggressively. We are understaffed in all areas up there," Wissore said.

The board eventually decided to cut the proposal and hired only one clerical employee.

Wissore said GCC had been "filtering faculty in" in recent years and that hiring new clerical workers was not at the expense of hiring more faculty.

The new employee will assist in the library and have other office duties. The school has only one other full-time clerical employee.

"They are to be used throughout the district. We will get more work and better work ... with two people in two places," he said.

Guard quits

GRANITE CITY — Another crosswalk guard at Granite City High School has quit due to motorists who refuse to stop for pedestrians.

Linda Austin quit Thursday, Sept. 18, following the morning shift at the crosswalk located between National Super Market and Payless Shoe Source on Madison Avenue. She was replaced by alternate guard Diane Nash beginning with the noon shift, a police spokesperson said.

Austin had told Police Chief Bill Harris she would work until Friday. However, the spokesperson said Austin quit Thursday morning because she could not further tolerate conditions at the crosswalk.

"I've had three people out there and all three have quit," Harris said.

Several pedestrians have almost been hit by cars that failed to stop, he said.

"Most of them will (stop)," Harris said, "but it only takes one."

Harris said he wished motorists would be "more considerate" of the pedestrians.

Heated meeting held on occupancy permits

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Several aldermen and audience members walked out of a heated planning and zoning committee meeting at City Hall Wednesday night.

The meeting was called to discuss a proposed ordinance before the Granite City Council which would require a permit before a dwelling could be occupied and utility service turned on. An inspection of the dwelling by inspectors John Jakich and Erv DeFousse would be required before a permit could be issued.

MEMBERS OF the former planning and zoning committee who worked on the ordinance, Aldermen Lloyd Bailey, Woody Moad and Brett Hanke, were present along with members of the Granite City Board of Realtors and the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society (DNRS).

The office of superintendent of streets will be on the agenda for Monday meeting. Mayor Leonard Davis wants to make the post an appointed position. The mayor and the elected superintendent, William Warfield, have been locked in a dispute over the direction of the street department. Both claim "politics" is involved in the dispute.

'I don't want other people coming in and telling me what I can or what I can't do.'

Other city officials were present including Mayor Von Dee Cruse, Aldermen Sam Whitmer, Sharon Perjak, Paul Fisk, Judy Whitaker and Jeff Worthen, Inspectors Jakich and DeFousse, Assistant City Attorney Charlie Douglas, who drafted the ordinance, and Township Assessor Darlene Laub.

Audience members were given a chance to speak by Bailey, who chaired the meeting.

"ONE'S HOME is usually his biggest investment," said resident Don Hagen. "I don't want other people coming in and telling me what I can or what I can't do."

Resident Roberta Lewis asked Bailey why a public hearing on the issue was not held to inform and hear questions and comments from a story in the Sept. 14 issue of the Press-Record/Journal, the meeting was to be between the committee and the realtors' board.

However, at a City Council meeting Tuesday night, Bailey said the meeting was open to the public.

Cruse said, under the Illinois Open Meetings Act, the committee meeting was no different than a city council meeting.

PRESIDENT of the realtors' board, John Blasingame, said he thought the meeting was to be between the committee and the board.

Blasingame said Cruse had assured him the realtors would have some input in discussions on the ordinance. However, he said, the realtors didn't learn the occupancy permit ordinance was before the council until a story appeared in the newspaper stating the ordinance had been placed on first reading.

"You guys (the aldermen) are go-

School hiring methods often a problem

Not having attended school gatherings for a couple of years (except for Agnes Frintzko's retirement), I have the luxury of writing a few opinions here without any eyewitness insight to back them up.

A quick comment is that school hiring methods have been a thorny problem for several decades. When the late Paul Grigsby's role as the top administrator was challenged in the 1960s, a key allegation was that he was exerting too much "superintendent's patronage."

His reputation was so awe-inspiring that he could choose every employee, even if sometimes by whim or friendship, his critics on the board said.

Hundreds rallied to his defense at a board meeting, held in the Granite City High School auditorium due to the size of the crowd. A potential 4-3 vote to fire him ended in a 4-3 decision to retain him, but he left a few months later to become a college administrator.

A high National Education Association officer who was prominent in all local drives and worthy causes, Grigsby was revered by many and resented by some. I liked him; he helped me get my job 11 years ago.

Clashes over reporters' presence at board discussions are not new. Years ago when Homer Huber (whom I also like) was board president, I can recall him throwing me out of some executive sessions.

Even in the 1980s, a group in control of the board (not the present majority) held a lot of three-member meetings in which personnel were interviewed; the group excluded not only me and other news people but also the superintendent.

The trio wielded almost total power, so I have to smile when one of them says today he favors "all power to the superintendent." He didn't feel that way when the power was in his hands.

Supplying the crucial fourth vote for the trio then was Alan Crider, who in more recent times switched to the opposite faction to provide the fourth or fifth vote for various actions.

Probably the most controversial board member in District 5 history, Crider was condemned by the 1985-86 superintendent, Dr. Max Redmond (at a July 29 press conference), for allegedly boasting that he (Crider) would be personally choosing new principals.

I have always felt a board member should function as "one of seven around the table" at night rather than serving as daytime mini-superintendent. Unfortunately, abuses of this type have occurred not only in Granite City but (years ago) in Madison and Venice.

Columnists' Club

By Bill Winter

Hiring procedures ought to be improved in District 5. A highly-qualified secretary who hasn't been able to get a Granite City school job told me she was asked about her technical skills when she applied. But her ability to relate to other people and her interest and involvement in local programs weren't a part of her interview. Nobody wanted to know.

When hiring four or so people out of several dozen applicants, it's a no-win situation at best; more people are going to be disappointed than pleased. There would be less heat, however, if the superintendent and thorough evaluations were made.

Whether a superintendent ought to have 100 percent or 97 percent authority remains a matter of hot debate and I don't have the answer. The best interest of the students need to be kept uppermost. A school district wasn't created to help precinct committeemen build political machines.

Under a theory of "checks and balances," board members' direct knowledge of individual job applicants' training and experience are not ignored, either.

Across the U.S., some board members have the wrong motives but I think a big majority want to use their knowledge in the best way; the motives behind their votes cannot automatically be scoffed at merely because they ran for elective office and thus are "politicians."

In an ideal situation, various board members' business and vocational training and experience are blended with administrators' and teachers' educational know-how to produce sound policies and good schools.

A board member who conducts himself or herself in a fair, intelligent and lawful way is a real hero; the long hours of service, at no pay, are a massive slice out of their lives.

In saying that all this seems to have happened before — history does have a tendency to repeat itself — I don't mean to minimize the importance of current issues. Each has to be dealt with on its own merits, regardless of the way something similar was solved or not solved in the past.

By the same token, saying a home-grown superintendent cannot succeed because of existing pressures or turmoil is not necessarily so. Hiring an expert from out-of-town (do you have to go out of town to be an expert?) has some advantages but it is not certain to provide a panacea.

Harold Kaiser's hiring seemed to be the thing to do in the Huber era but Kaiser did not remain for more than several years. When he went back to teaching he was replaced by a highly-regarded local educator, the late Russell Johnson.

Among the cruelties of the enrollment downturn was the closing of such schools as Russell Johnson Elementary (now the Knights of Columbus Hall).

The names of three other Granite Citizens live on at local schools: Walter Coolidge, Paul Grigsby and Louis Frohardt.

How troublesome was the enrollment downturn? Cost-cutting obviously was required, but when one of the many school closing decisions was being made, it so infuriated Alderman Lloyd Bailey that he vowed a crowded public hearing to defeat all board members who voted for it.

It was my school, Washington, but I disagreed with him because, next to salaries, the operation of buildings, especially old buildings, was the biggest cost.

You cannot balance a budget without watching out for such cost factors, but closing a school will not win you a popularity contest.

How can a superintendent conduct himself honorably and yet also leave a bit of public respect for his board? One of the ways surely is to communicate often. A board member inevitably gets phone calls or visits from taxpayers about a new program or decision or incident. He's entitled to be clued in, lest he or she have to say, "I really don't know what's going on."

Recommendations by a high-caliber citizen panel this year included the essential nature of frequent updating of the board by the superintendent. Everyone says Max Redmond is the greatest guy in the world, and he was cordial to me the first time I met him, but the citizen group and the board both said he didn't respect the board on this point.

The panel also cited what it considered five other serious flaws in the way Redmond did his work here.

Perhaps one of the most frustrated people in town is George Moore, a former longtime board member who was hired to improve the district's public image while it was still relatively good. Since he was hired

Executive session unjustified

Below is an editorial taken verbatim from an edition of the Granite City Press-Record dated Monday, Sept. 22, 1986.

The specially called meeting of the grade school board went into "executive session" after night and raised salaries, among others, the salary of a grade school official who seems to think he is entitled to an increase because another school man was awarded an increase.

Two of the nine members were absent. All seven present voted for that increase and other increases. The Press-Record is unable to inform the taxpayers which of the seven members was for the increase and which was against it, if any. That is the trick for which the device of an "executive session" is invoked — to keep the taxpayers from knowing who is responsible for the increase. The way the matter was handled makes it appear that the action was unanimous. The members will thus stand united against the taxpayers.

The United States Senate, a law making body, is empowered to hold executive sessions. Its theory is that international matters, such as treaties, should be secret. The opportunity time to make them public. But there is no authority in law or even in good faith for a school board to hold an "executive session" — a secret session. The school board is a public body and its actions should be open to the public. The Granite City school board only makes itself ridiculous when it apes the United States Senate.

County machine won

To the editor:

Herewith is unfinished business in the Barton I bribery case. It was originated in 1982 by State's Attorney Weber and the same Associate Judge Ferguson dismissed the case.

The 5th Appellate Court honored the appeal, reversed the Ferguson decision, and returned Barton to the Madison County judiciary.

There it was delayed, looped after loop-hole (going into its 5th year), and as a result, by every Democratic presiding judge, until the Supreme Court appointed Bruce Locher from neutral Springfield.

Barton was sent back to the "sentence" that Judge Ferguson awarded the jury which found him guilty was probation, some free public work, and a $1,000 fine (the same sum that Barton collected to try to influence a land-rezoning).

At his final freeing (in essence) of Barton, special prosecutor Locher told Judge Ferguson, "Mr. Barton is a convicted corrupt public employee. His offense amounted to a betrayal of public trust that should be punished with a prison term."

The predicted Ferguson freedom verdict (his second chance) also astounded and angered many when he reasoned that the bribery charge against Barton was like a public official getting a speeding ticket.

Judge Ferguson also theorized that some allegations stemming from the many judicial "sloppers" against Barton and the others had improperly "slopped over" into the 1982 case.

Who cornered up this defense — never mentioned in five years? Question: Did Ferguson's "sloppers" include one or two of the many judicial "sloppers" against Barton? Chief Judge Rarick appointed Attorney Zeke Smith as special Barton prosecutor even though Smith had never prosecuted a criminal case and would have been like a hen in the fox house against Barton's legal sharks.

Did Ferguson's "sloppers" also include the same chief judge when he tried to fire the aggressive outsider, alleging Locher was not a legal prosecutor because he (Rarick) had not administered him the proper oath?

Yet, several days later the Rarick oath was found. This was not only not given but was reported only in one paper, buried in an isolated four-word sentence near the obituary section.

Newspaper criticism of the Madison County judiciary is off-limits in our entire area.

And so, after about $20,000 in legal fees, one state's attorney, and three special prosecutors (two unacceptable), and gigantic efforts by all of Barton's defenders to try to assassinate the character and professionalism of both Barton prosecutors, Barton Bribery I is closed.

Yet, Barton's lawyers try to overturn the 1982 case to override Ferguson's probation to award a total freeing of Barton.

The Collinsville Herald editor astutely wrote recently, "If you didn't know better, you'd swear special prosecutor Locher was the one on trial."

Right on target, but when you realize that the press' biased focus on charges against the prosecution has covered up the charges against the law-breaker, "News media, heal thyself!"

Ironically, Associate Judge Ferguson and his Barton decision do not have to answer to the public because he is appointed at the pleasure of the Madison County circuit judges (all Democrats), but the latter will have to, for retention or for firing on election day.

In conclusion, who won Barton I? It appears to me, the Machine won.

Thanks Bruce Locher, the good guy who rode in from Springfield to try to bring the law and order to Madison County's officialdom.

Thanks, too, to Locher's aggressive predecessor who also weathered the same, vicious, law-menacing political firestorm that is out of step with the great rank and file of the Democratic Party.

How do you judge a newspaper's content?

There are newspapers, and then there are those publications that look like newspapers but don't fulfill the role a newspaper is supposed to fill.

A newspaper is, of course, traditionally thought of as a watchdog on government and others who exert influence on the public. In this capacity, a newspaper naturally covers major and minor meetings in its area.

It editorializes, sometimes unilaterally, on controversial issues as it acts as an adviser to the public. Protecting the common good is the goal of such publications.

Using the watchdog criteria, the public can begin to drop certain publications from the list of what might consider to be newspapers.

Most supermarket papers certainly serve little other purpose than to provide entertainment and gossip. Newspapers are supposed to be the so-called journalism in such scandal sheets.

Another vital role of newspapers is to provide news of record. Again, this would include government meetings. But equally important is

Media Mandarin

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive Editor

the emphasis on births, deaths, anniversaries, engagements, weddings, divorces, sports, criminal activities and all other items that are part of day-to-day living.

Those leech-like papers that feed off a community, but do not offer these essential elements, can also be dropped off the public's list of publications. Such publications have little or no readership value because they tell the community little or nothing of importance.

In short, they don't measure up to the standard: A good newspaper is a community talking to itself.

The concept of the "news" in such publications may be one or two full-time staffers with minimal or no training in journalism working for minimum pay, copying news out of other newspapers when it suits them, and entirely ignoring issues of obvious importance — all of which make the content of such papers a sadly predictable mixture of mere fluff and mediocrity.

Good newspapers, including small weeklies in rural areas, fulfill the watchdog job even with limited staffing. The difference between these publications and second-raters is commitment and good news sense.

One such manager is Rubie Velyington, a former editor with the old Midwest East Journal. Rubie doesn't have a large staff for his Mascoutah-based weekly newspaper, but he chooses staff members carefully.

This is a good place to start, and several of what he calls his "graduates" have gone on to bigger and better things: one to Anheuser-Busch public relations, at least three to public relations at area colleges, and several have gone to larger newspapers.

Though staffing isn't great, editors like Rubie make sure their reporters learn the basics — to cover news of record, to cover all board meetings, in short, to provide the public with the news they expect to find in a community newspaper.

Rubie has competition from other newspapers in that area similarly committed to local coverage, including the Trenton Sun and the County Journal. Those papers also do not have large staffs, but they do have good management.

Such papers prove it is not size, but dedication to the public and to the profession that is important.

When thinking about newspapers, the public might consider its definition of what a newspaper is supposed to be. Any publication can present the public with a flood of information and call it news, even present it in a facsimile of what a newspaper is supposed to look like, but such attempts at impersonation are seen for what they are — silly look-alikes that fail every test of worth.

When it comes to substance, the public turns to those publications it knows, respects and gives that coveted and proudly-held title — The hometown newspaper.

Man trapped in cab of truck hit by train

GRANITE CITY — A Bismarck, Mo., man was trapped in the cab of his tractor-trailer after it collided with an oncoming train at Granite City Steel Sept. 17.

Robert Dean Paulsell, 30, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated for injuries he suffered in the mishap.

Paulsell, a driver for Beelman Trucking Co. of St. Liberty, Ill., told Granite City police he was driving parallel with the railroad tracks at Granite City Steel's coke plant. He turned left to cross the tracks when he saw the oncoming train.

Paulsell said he realized he did not have time to back the tractor-trailer off the tracks, so he accelerated in an attempt to pull the vehicle across the tracks. The train struck the trailer just behind the cab, police said.

The impact of the collision forced the tractor-trailer on its side, pushing it against three utility poles. The operator of the train, Joel K. Lasswell, 52, of Cottage Hills, and the brakeman immediately tried to assist Paulsell, who was trapped inside the cab.

Members of the Granite City Fire Department rescue squad and emergency medical technicians spent an hour and 45 minutes getting Paulsell out of the cab.

Schools in Madison to dismiss early Tuesday

Three schools in Madison Community Unit District 12 will be dismissed early on Tuesday, Sept. 22, for staff development activities.

Blair and Harris schools will be dismissed at 2 p.m. so that teachers of reading in grades kindergarten through third will learn how to use the computer management system of a new reading series for monitoring student progress.

Students' test answers are scored and analyzed by the computer. The printer then provides class reports, individual diagnostic reports, and lists of students who should work on specified objectives.

Lane markers being installed along I-55/70

More lane closures will be required on the highway leading to the busiest bridge in this metropolitan area.

The temporary closings are planned due to installation of reflective raised pavement lane and edge line markers on Interstates 55/70 in East St. Louis.

The Illinois Department of Transportation said this week that starting today, Sept. 18, it will close up to two lanes of I-55/70 east and west bound in specific areas between Illinois 203 and the Poplar Street Bridge to allow installation of the reflective markers.

The work will be performed during non-peak traffic daylight hours. However, the department encourages motorists to drive with caution through the work areas or seek alternate routes to avoid congestion.

The work is being done by A.C. Pavement Stripping Co. of Des Plaines and is expected to be complete by Oct. 1, weather permitting.

New owner at Merle Norman

The Merle Norman Studio of Granite City, 3657 Nameoki Road, in the Mini-Mall, is under new ownership. The grand opening is set for 1:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 22, with refreshments and specials planned Sept. 22-27.

The Merle Norman Studio has been part of the Granite City community for 30 years. Staffed by trained beauty advisers, the studio offers a wide range of cosmetics for the face, skin, nails and hair.

According to Linda Roder, studio owner, the beauty advisers provide many personalized services, including complimentary makeup demonstrations. "I'm pleased with my new business and excited about all of the new friends we'll be making," said Mrs. Roder.

Mrs. Rose Ruth Elmore, former studio owner, said she is grateful to the customers acquired over the 30 years. "I have confidence in Linda that she will continue the tradition of personalized quality service we have always extended," she said.

Tougher child-support laws

Two new laws are designed to make it much tougher for absentee parents to avoid paying child support.

Wayne Stanton, administrator of the Federal Office of Family Support, praises Illinois' child support collection efforts at the bill signing. Any mother who is not receiving child support can now get help from the state free of charge. They don't have to be on welfare to get help.

The Department of Public Aid will acquire mothers with the process, step by step, until the child support is received.

Stanton said, "I'm confident Illinois is going to continue to make dramatic increases in child support effectiveness, which will significantly improve the lives of people and reduce government costs substantially."

During the fiscal year that ended June 30, Illinois Public Aid collected $76 million in child support — a 500 percent increase over 1980 collections. The department's goal for the current year is $100 million.

House Bill 3271 effective Jan. 1, 1987, gives the state the authority to deduct child support from the wages of any parent who refuses to pay voluntarily.

It also levies a fine on any employer who takes punitive action against an employee after an income-withholding order has been enforced.

House Bill 1446 mandates that children get the support owed them before the state recoups any money it may be owed for supporting children abandoned by a parent.

Public Aid Director Gregory L. Coler said the new legislation "closes more of the loopholes some absentee parents try to escape through. One by one, we've been eliminating all of the hiding places and parents are starting to realize they must support their children."

Illinois' child support collection effort has been praised by the federal government for having the fastest rate of increase in collections of any industrial state.

Coler said one of the reasons for the state's success is a new $5 million computer system. The federal government paid 90 percent of the costs.

"No one can outrun a computer," Coler said. "No matter where an absentee parent goes, if they earn a penny of wages, we'll find out about it."

The child support collection staff at Public Aid has been expanded by more than 100 percent over the past two years.

"We are determined to make sure all children in Illinois gets the support they deserve," Gov. James Thompson said. "We owe it to the children and to the taxpayers, who otherwise end up supporting these children through welfare."

YOUR STARS

VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 7- Keep things as simple, even skeletal, as possible. Anything elaborate this week may fall by the wayside.

LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 7- The boisterous energy you feel early in the week may leave you when you most need it. Prepare for letdown.

SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 7- You possess some extraordinary talents, and this is the week to display them. Much depends upon timing. Nov. 8-Nov. 21- If hard work counts for anything, this is your week to shine. Trust your own devices.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 7- Don't mistake the joyous, dizzying confusion of an unexpected success with failure. Know your strength. Dec. 8-Dec. 21- Trust your instincts to lead you to success this week. Don't listen to others calling "run away!"

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 6- You have an opportunity this week to play a brilliant role affecting another's future. Do so with care. Jan. 7-Jan. 19- A fast-paced week that demands the skillful application of lessons recently learned from a pro.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 3- When all else fails, employ the hard-hitting method and you'll get to the core of difficulties by week's end. Feb. 4-Feb. 18- Though the letdowns are disappointing, the triumphs are iridescent. Go with the latter!

PISCES Feb. 18-March 5- Take care that you don't consider your plight overlong, for in doing so you will only escalate it. Act! March 6-March 20- Don't go by appearances alone. Another's success may seem to have been effortless - but it wasn't.

ARIES March 21-April 4- Feelings of profound emptiness early in the week must not be allowed to color later responses. Look 'up!

April 5-April 19- This is certainly not the week to live in illusions. Be realistic in both your thought and actions.

TAURUS April 20-May 5- There may be no connection at all between talent and virtue. Don't demand perfection - even of the very good. May 6-May 20- You are presented with a number of opportunities to display your powers of persuasion. Muff none!

GEMINI May 21-June 6- Belief in a rational universe may be shattered - but only if you add into your figuring all of this week's events. June 7-June 20- There is no room for the obsessive this week. Keep your plans earthbound to gain success.

CANCER June 21-July 7- Growing pains are evident this week, whether in people or projects. Reserve judgments for another time. July 8-July 22- An unrealized dream seems farther off than ever as the week opens. By week's end, things will be different.

LEO July 23-Aug. 7- Employ your verbal imagination to the point of wit and wisdom and you will defeat those trying to halt progress. Aug. 8-Aug. 22- Events enable you to realize that your most private feelings are actually universal. Joy results.

A Health and Fitness Fair, co-sponsored by the St. Elizabeth School Board of Education and St. Elizabeth Medical Center, is being held today, Sunday, Sept. 21, from 9 a.m. until noon in the school cafeteria, Pontoon and Johnson roads.

Screening for blood pressure, anemia, pulmonary function, diabetes, vision, and colon cancer will be available at no charge. The procedures will be provided by St. Elizabeth Medical Center personnel. Information booths will be staffed by representatives of the American Cancer Society, American Lung Association, Food and Drug Administration, Share (a group concerned with breast cancer), Granite City Police Department, Earl's Sporting Goods, National Supermarket and Renaissance Health Center.

Additional booths with large displays and with informational pamphlets will be prepared by the American Heart Association, Arthritis Foundation, St. Louis Dairy Council, American Diabetes Association, Piasa Health Care (alcohol and drug related problems) and St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Additional booths will also be set up to provide information on epilepsy, lung diseases, dental health, osteoporosis, nutrition, and diet and dieting.

Representatives will be available in a booth dealing exclusively with child health and safety, and poison prevention. Appropriate printed material will also be available.

Demonstrations of "relaxation and stress management" and proper exercise techniques will be given throughout the morning.

"Belt Woman," a character created to promote safety through the proper use of safety seats and seat belts, will be at the fair.

A nutritionally sound buffet breakfast will be served as long as it lasts through the courtesy of Kroger, National and Schnucks' supermarkets and Ralston Purina. Foods high in fiber, high in calcium, low in fat, and low in sugar will be served.

Weather permitting, the Teddy Bear Program through St. Elizabeth Medical Center will be set up outside the cafeteria with representatives from the Emergency Room staff available. This program was designed to familiarize children with some of the basic medical procedures in a non-threatening atmosphere. An ambulance is also expected to be parked on the site for the children to view.

Uniformed Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will be distributing free health and safety related items, such as badges and stickers, to children attending.

Co-chairmen of the Health and Fitness Fair are Georgia and Thomas Layloff from the Board of Education of St. Elizabeth School.

Permits debated

ing to make the decision," he said. "We don't have power to make any decisions."

"IN DEFENSE of Lloyd Bailey, this has been common knowledge for a year and a half," Fisk said. "This committee is not trying to push anything through."

Granite City realtor Bernard Royce read a statement from the board outlining 12 areas of concern regarding the ordinance. They were:

- The proposed ordinance places a heavy burden on area residents by requiring inspections of property that could result in excessive time losses and also cost-prohibitive improvements that would deter real estate sales.

- The proposed ordinance forces elderly residents to stay in their homes when they need to sell to survive.

- The proposed ordinance discourages "sweat equity." This is where a person buys a dwelling with the intention of fixing or remodeling it.

- The ordinance would hinder the work of the DNSR.

- Landlords who maintain substandard rental properties could bypass ordinance provisions by manipulating the handling of utilities.

- The monitoring of requirements of the ordinance encourages excessive and expensive "bureaucratic red tape."

- The ordinance gives the inspectors wide-ranging powers, checked only by the plan commission, which would act as an appeals board.

- A person would have to resort to an appeals process if there is a disagreement between the two inspectors.

- Appeals are made through inspectors' office. This would seem to give the inspectors more power, since the appeal would be made directly to the source that denied occupancy.

- The inspection and permit process would be over and above federal inspections being performed by the Federal Housing Authority, Veterans Administration and "Fannie Mae" Federal National Mortgage Administration inspectors.

- The ordinance prohibits estate representation on the appeals board but does not prohibit other interested parties such as bankers, contractors or material suppliers.

• Members of the appeal board would lack certain qualifications that would enable them to rule fairly on judgments of the inspectors.

• ROYCE ALSO presented a petition containing 30 signatures of residents of the 5th ward (Bailey's ward) who are opposed to occupancy permits.

Resident Harold Cavins said he learned there are 250 occupancy changes a month / 3,000 a year. He said the yearly income from the permits would be $31,000 less than that of the salary of the inspectors.

"We'll need two and a half men to keep up with the workload," Hanke said.

ENFORCEMENT of the current housing code, Hanke said, is needed instead of the proposed ordinance. He said the ordinance could be fined $200 or sentenced to 10 days in jail.

The committee, Hanke said, should "take time" to get more input from residents and draft another ordinance.

"Let's get something every other man in this city can be proud he voted for," Hanke said.

ANOTHER RESIDENT, Joe Smith, then addressed the committee about problems he had with a mobile home he wanted to put on a lot near Fisk's home. Smith claimed Fisk bought the property in order to keep him from putting the mobile home in.

"That's a lie," Fisk said.

When Fisk tried to respond to Smith's comments, several aldermen and members of the audience walked out of the meeting.

FISK ALSO walked out of the courtroom and into Cruse's office. Smith followed him, began calling Fisk obscene names and threatened to hit him, Fisk said.

Fisk called Granite City police, but Smith left the building before officers arrived. He has not yet been apprehended.

everybody's," he said. "(to Marsh). 'If we're not supposed to, let's put that place off-limits now,' Modrusis suggested."

The water supply system will not be shut off, said Samples.

The Port district would have been forced to install a new water supply system if the Army turned off the old one, therefore jeopardizing the sale, said Samples.

THE NEW port property is adjacent to other Port District land along the banks of the Chain of Rocks Canal.

It is to be used for the port's Foreign Trade Zone 31 expansion site on Site 1 of a planned industrial park.

Dixon said he expected the sale to be a major incentive for development of the port.

"I'M ENCOURAGED by the sale and the development of this property. This project is, indeed, an excellent example of public cooperation at the local, federal and state levels working successfully with the private sector," Dixon said.

There is a 1,500-acre area owned by the Army next to the 104 acres.

The Army's a little reluctant to give that land up, Congressman Price has been working to get the Army to utilize that land a little better," Samples said.

IN RETURN for the purchase, Fox Industries, of 1603 State St., will actually pay for most of the land purchase.

IN RETURN for the purchase, Fox will have a lease on the warehouse and will operate the trade zone.

The sale is expected to create 25 new jobs.

Samples said the U.S. Congress has already approved the sale.

Graveside services for Betty Gaertner

Graveside services were conducted at 10 a.m. Friday, Sept. 19, at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville, for Betty (Covon) Gaertner, 81, of Madison County Nursing Home, Edwardsville, formerly of this area. She died at 10:25 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 17, 1986, at Wood River Township Hospital.

said, he or she could sue the city.

"If we're not supposed to, let's put that place off-limits now," Modrusis suggested."

Police Chief Bill Harris said it would not be illegal for the city to grant permission for roadblocks because Granite City is a home-rule community. However, an ordinance would be needed to grant approval.

CITY ATTORNEY Mark Goldenberg said an ordinance could be drafted where the city would not be liable in case of injury.

George Cook, director of Project Help, said Thursday he knew about the moratorium when he requested the roadblock. He added he was not disappointed in the council's decision.

"I could see the trend a year ago that the intersection is overloaded," Cook said. "I've got the feeling the average motorists are getting aggravated about this situation."

Contracts let on area road jobs

Contracts for area highway projects have been awarded by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Work on Poag Road involves 1.89 miles of new concrete pavement from Illinois 3 to Illinois 111 three miles south of South Roxana. It includes a new bridge over Conrail and Illinois Central Gulf Railroad tracks, and signals on Poag Road.

Calhoun Contracting Corp. and Luhr Brothers Inc. were awarded the $4,086,721 contract.

Police investigating abduction attempt

GRANITE CITY — Police are investigating the attempted abduction of a 14-year-old Granite City girl, Sept. 14.

The girl was walking in the 2100 block of Cleveland Boulevard about 7:19 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 14, police said. The girl was near St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2101 Cleveland Blvd., when a car stopped near her.

A man, who was a passenger in the auto, asked the girl if she wanted a ride, police related, but the girl declined.

The man tried to convince her to get into the car, saying she would be taken to where she was going.

As the girl started to run, the man got out of the car, grabbed her by the arm and tried to drag her toward the auto, police said.

The girl kicked the man's leg, broke free and ran eastbound on 21st Street to the First Baptist Church at 21st and Delmar Avenue. There, she told several people someone was chasing her.

The car followed her to the church, where the man asked several people the girl had not talked to if they had seen a girl who was running. The man said he was looking for his runaway sister.

When the girl heard the man, she ran to a friend's house in the 2000 block of Delmar; from there she called her father, who called police.

The girl described the car as being a large, four-door dark green auto with a large rust hole on the right front fender.

The man was described as being about 5 feet 7 inches tall, medium build, 16-20 years old with pockmarks and acne on his face. He possibly had long hair and a mole under his bottom lip. He was wearing a two-tone baseball cap, a blue jean jacket and pants, and a chain and keys on his belt.

The driver of the auto was wearing a dark, shiny jacket, the girl said.

BURGLAR OBTAINS CASH, PORTABLE SAFE WITH $500

A burglar ransacked Flamingo Hair Design, 2443 Grand Ave., Sept. 11 and made away with two cases of beauty products, a gold chain, three cases of soda, $20 in cash and assorted items. The intruder spilled soda on the floor.

The Quad Club, located at the same address, was also burglarized Sept. 11. Taken were a color television, valued at $279, and a portable safe containing $500. The intruder also ransacked the room, pried open a storage cabinet and spilled a can of pennies on the floor.

THREE CAR TIRES DAMAGED
 Linda Thebeaux, 2253 Lee Ave., said Sept. 14 the two front tires and the left rear tire of her auto were cut.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN HAND
 Allen R. Lerner of 3221 Colgate Place told Granite City police Sept. 17 he was cleaning a .25 caliber semi-automatic pistol when the gun accidentally discharged, wounding him in his left hand.

WOMAN HURT AT HER HOME
 Patricia Hutchins, 2701 Buxton Ave., said Sept. 16 she was involved in an argument with a man at her home when he shoved her against a living room wall and throughout the lower level of her home. Hutchins said the man then grabbed her forcibly by the arms, legs, shoulder and neck. She was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

TIRES DAMAGED ON 2 CARS
 April Julius of 3221 Curt St. told police Sept. 18 someone used a sharp object to damage the left front and rear tires on both of his cars, parked in front of his home.

BATTERY TAKEN FROM CAR
 Judy Russell, 2707 Center St., said Sept. 17 a burglar removed the battery, valued at $50, from her car.

Gerald Bassett trial Sept. 29

A judge has agreed to separate the trial of Gerald Bassett from that of his father, lawyer Merle Bassett, and his former boss, James W. Barton.

The three are charged in an alleged assessment reduction kickback scheme. Barton was Madison County supervisor of assessments and Gerald Bassett was an assistant to Barton.

Associate Judge Charles V. Romani Jr. ruled that trying Gerald Bassett with the others could deprive them of the opportunity to present evidence in their defense.

Gerald Bassett, in an affidavit in the court file, said he would testify for the others if tried separately, but would assert his right against self-incrimination and refuse to testify if tried along with the others.

Romani scheduled Gerald Bassett's trial to begin Sept. 29. The others will be tried later.

DUIs

Seminar Monday on area tourism

Ed Camara, a 20-year veteran in group tour marketing who has been featured at travel industry conventions throughout the U.S., has been recruited by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs/Office of Tourism to host a half-day seminar on how Illinois regions can boost their share of the national group tour market.

The seminar is set for the Collinsville Hilton, 1000 Eastport Plaza Drive, on Monday, Sept. 22, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

A luncheon for participants and area representatives will follow at 12:45 p.m. featuring a brief presentation by Camara on "The Tourism Advocacy: The Importance of Tourism to Illinois."

A spokesman said that last year the economic impact of group tourism in North America exceeded $9 billion, and of that, only $7.2 million or 1.5 percent was spent in Illinois.

For the first time, the Illinois Office of Tourism is sponsoring a series of workshops statewide to help increase the state's share of this market. Open to the public, the workshops will be held in five cities, Collinsville, Springfield, Galesburg, Rockford and Chicago.

Topics the workshop will address include: "Six Ways of Marketing to get Group Tour Business" and "The Value of Cross Selling and the Regional Approach in Promoting Tourism."

Warriors 'crew' shaves West; 3-0

By Gary King
Correspondent

For reasons uncertain, as the Granite City football squad made their way off Township Stadium Friday night after posting a 21-14 victory over Belleville West, the loyal Maroon cheering section chimed in a chorus of "Na, na, na, na, hey, hey, hey, gooooooodye."

It's very possible that the Belleville bunch was directing this razzing little chant to the apparent disappearance of the powerhouse football they've grown to expect from their Maroons over the years. For the loss dropped West's record to 0-3, and it was clear to see that the Maroon dynasty has seen its better days.

On the other hand, there's a remote possibility that perhaps just maybe — the West fans were directing their farewell sentiments to the Warrior gridder's departure from frustrating seasons of sub-mediocrity.

With the win, Granite City notched their third victory in as many tries this season, which amounts to the best start any Warrior football team has enjoyed in several years.

And the reasoning behind this unusually, if not unheard of, quick start lies in the fact that this is not just any old team.

The Warrior gridder's have made it a point to break from tradition here lately.

First it was the emergence of the "Crewcut Kids", which occurred when over half the squad asked their resident barbers to remove large amounts of hair from their scalp. Now it appears that senior running back David Bamber has started a new trend on this wacky, but winning, Warrior squad.

It was reported by one player that members of the squad were scheduled to have their jersey numbers engraved in the back of their crewcuts Saturday morning.

What will these guys think of next?

But before they added another twist to their tendency for the bizarre, Granite City made a point Friday of hammering another nail of reality into the fact that they are, indeed, for real this year.

On the game's initial possession, the Warriors took control on their own 39 yard line. With the Granite City offensive line pushing West's defensive front clear out of the county, Terry Stanley and Paul Sutter moved the ball into Maroon territory with two rushes apiece.

Three plays later the terrific twin twosome struck, as Tim Hogan hit brother Jamie with a 34-yard touchdown strike, giving Granite City an early 7-0 lead.

West ran two plays before Mike Williams recovered Mike Hall's fumble at the Maroon 30.

With the Warrior offensive line continuing their cattle drive, Stanley and Sutter were able to carry the ball to the West two yard line, setting the stage for T. Hogan's touchdown on a quarterback keeper with 3:08 remaining in the first quarter.

A destructing deja vu struck the Maroons on their ensuing drive, however, as Hall once again fumbled on the second play of the possession, putting the Warrior offense back in the driver's seat at West's 45 yard line.

And drive they did, as a Hogan pass was pulled down by Granite City tight end Eric Ryterski.

Stanley then moved the ball to the Belleville eight when he scooted around left tackle for an 11 yard gain.

At the 8:59 mark of the half, T. Hogan logged his second touchdown toss of the evening with an eight-yard strike to Sutter.

The Maroons finally cracked the erstwhile untied Warrior defense with their first scoring drive of the contest when they drove 80 yards in 15 plays to cut their deficit to 21-7. West quarterback Mike McClary capped the drive when he hit Hall with a five-yard touchdown pass.

Although they threatened on two other drives in the second half, West was able to come away with only one more touchdown, which came when McClary found Hall with 3:18 remaining in the final quarter on a pass from 19 yards out.

However, West's attempts to rally were foiled when that Warrior human wall of an offensive line allowed Sutter, Stanley and Bamber to chug away yardage and the remaining time on the game clock.

According to Coach Ron Yates, it was the play of the offensive line, which allowed the Warriors a total 220 yards, to come away with the victory.

"The offensive line did a heckuva job tonight. They really came out bruised in the first half, and they got us some big first downs late in the game, too."

Quarterback Tim Hogan, who unofficially completed nine of his 13 passing attempts for 104 yards and recorded an interception along with a fumble recovery, agreed with his coach.

"The guys on the offensive line were just blowing everybody right off the line in the first quarter," Hogan said. "I think they were the ones who really made the difference tonight. It seemed like all the momentum swung our way when we recovered those fumbles, and it really seemed to make them (West) go flat."

Maroon coach Bruce Arnold

stated that the early fumbles did, indeed, take "something out" of his squad.

"Yeah, those early fumbles really hurt."

"Yeah, those fumbles really did seem to take something out of us."

"We're coming close, but just not quite close enough. But we've got to be realistic, we've got a young team and it's going to take some time for us to come together."

Meanwhile, Yates notes that his Warriors, at least for the time being, have come together.

"We've won three in a row, and if you go back into last season, we've won six in a row and seven of our last eight ballgames. I thought we'd start out strong, though. Normandy was a key game for us, and I think that win was a big one that should help us," the Warrior coach said.

When asked if the team's 3-0 start had caused him to begin entertaining any thoughts of a playoff bid, Yates answered with a firm "no."

"Oh no. No way, not yet at least. We've just got too many tough football games ahead of us, and a lot of things can still happen during the course of the season. We just have to keep going from game to game. We can't afford to start looking ahead just yet."

However, in reference to his player's pleas that he join the Crewcut crowd, Yates said he would, but only under one condition.

"Before I start considering anything of the flattop or crewcut variety, you guys are going to have to give me a playoff bid," Yates told his team.

And based on the play of the Crewcut Crew thus far, they might just be gaining another member to the club come November.

Sports
CommentBy Gregg
OchoaWhitaker ends fourth year on wrestling board

Walt Whitaker has experienced many highs in his coaching career.

Wrestling has been a big part of his life. He's won regional championships and has coached individual state champions.

Whitaker, the head wrestling coach at Granite City High School, recently completed his fourth year on the executive committee of the National Wrestling Coaches Association.

The committee includes representatives of all NCAA divisions, plus four high school members.

During the 1985-86 season, Whitaker served as vice president. He also served on the special committee for the NCAA clinic and was chairman of the high school meeting.

Whitaker was selected to be a member of the committee four years ago by Marv Hess, the executive secretary from the University of Utah and Bob Carlson of Utah State.

"When you are selected to this type of committee by your peers, it makes all the years of coaching worthwhile, over and above the victories and the tournament championships," Whitaker said.

Whitaker has been coaching for 25 years and has won 200 dual meets in his career. The 200th win came in the IHSA sectionals against Carbondale last fall.

A 1961 graduate of Granite City High School, Whitaker was team captain of the Warrior wrestling team. He served as head coach at Cahokia and for 10 years guided the Granite City North Steelers. He also coached at Granite City Campus.

He will begin his second year as the Warrior head coach this winter as the Warriors look to defend their regional crown. Granite City was 15-3 in dual meets last season.

Rankings in sports do little but serve as good conversation starters.

Usually, past performance and a team's reputation helps solidify one's position in the polls. For example, East St. Louis' 40-game winning streak was ample proof for the pollsters to name the Flyers as the state's No. 1 team. No surprise there.

But, here's a corker. The Granite City High School soccer team was listed as the No. 2 team in the state in the Sept. 8 edition of the Chicago Tribune. Hinsdale South was No. 1.

Well, the Hornets were upset 2-1 by St. Charles in the first week of the season. Meanwhile, Granite City rolled to a 4-0 win over Belleville East. Since then, the Warriors have won three more games and have yet to be scored upon.

Lo and behold, when the next Trib poll came out, there was a new No. 1 team. — St. Charles. Although the Pirates are sixth in the preseason list, they leapfrogged to the top spot based on their win over Hinsdale South.

Meanwhile, the red-hot Warriors, the team that has won more titles than any other school in the state, slipped to No. 5. Hinsdale South is at No. 3 and Collinsville is No. 9.

Closer to home, the Warriors were ranked No. 8 in one St. Louis newspaper preseason poll. When the second poll came out last week, Granite City — still unbeaten — was still at No. 8. Oddly enough, CBC, which was ranked No. 2, fell to No. 5. The Cadets' record was 0-5.

Start up the conversation.

Illinois High School Association officials toured the Vandalabene Center at SIU this week and expressed interest in letting the university host a prep basketball sectional in the facility.

Should the idea become a reality, perhaps the tournament could be held at SIU in the 1987-88 season.

The Class A sectional would likely be held at Edwardsville if all the details can be worked out. IHSA officials hinted that if Madison or Bunker Hill would be willing to host the sectional at Edwardsville, the IHSA could alternate sites between Vandalia (where the Class A Sectional is currently held) and Edwardsville. The Vandalabene Center seats 4,100.

Super-Sectional sites of Carbondale (Class AA) and Eastern Illinois University (Class A) will remain the same.
